As our great nation celebrates the anniversary of Veteran's Day, remembering those who had served honorably to preserve our right of freedom, many of whom had given the ultimate sacrifice on our behalf, the owners of Allied Plastics wanted to especially demonstrate their support for our troops fighting in Iraq. And so we wanted to publicly illustrate our appreciation to you, our military men and women, for what you do so unselfishly, so that we can live the way we do. Enclosed you will find a photograph of all of our employees standing in front of our corporate headquarters, which was taken following our Veterans' Day Luncheon.

As you can see, we are standing united in humility, with our American flag and our number one ally fluttering in the breeze, strengthened by the courage, fortitude and dedication that you are sustaining on our behalf to preserve our great nation as our forefathers did before you. We want you to know that since 9/11, Allied Plastics, counted once among the silent majority, quickly purchased and has flown both the American and British Flags. It is essential to note that our employees were personally responsible for constructing and erecting these poles and flags.

For all of the men and women in the armed services still fighting on our behalf as well as those who have given the ultimate sacrifice, know that you have our continuing support, prayers and eternal gratitude. Furthermore, the word is out, we shall lead with class and dignity by further demonstrating our solidarity by wearing something red every Friday until all of our troops come home.
